THE AFRO-AMERICAN COUNCIL. Louisville, Ky., February 4, 1907. In company with President Walters and Attorney Wetmore I called on Sen-5 ator Foraker during January.

His noble soul goes out for the dishonorably discharged men of the 25th United States Regiment. The justice he seeks will come. The American people as a whole are too just to allow a great wrong to ten million's of their number, be they black or white, pass without proper investigation.

We are interested in the soldiers, and more than that in the principle of justice involved that will be too far-reaching in its effect to go undefended.

Lieutenant Flipper, who is now living under another flag, and Cadet Whitaker, who had his ear cut off in a hazing bee, would be as honored today by the American Government as Captain Dreyfus is by the French, if the Negro 25 had stood by them like the Jews stood by Dreyfus. Our failure in that has until the Negro cannot enter a mili-25 tary academy in this country. Nearly For Rosamond Cole, New York City: every State has disbanded their Negro James W. Johnson 25 militia, and this stroke of the President For Philip A. Payton, J., New York has put a mountain in the Negro's pathway that must be scaled before he can I. A. Lankford 20 enter, as formerly, the United States

Again I say, unless we make a just contention, aided by Senator Foraker and other white friends, North and South, it will affect the Negro a hundred years hence.

Interest friends in the struggle for justice, and make yourself responsible for $5.00. Give or collect it and send it to the One Cent Savings Bank, Nashville, Tenn., or True Reformers' Bank, Richmond, Va. Mr. J. C. Napier cashier of the One Cent Savings Bank, or Mr. R. T. Hill, cashier of the True Reformers' Bank, will receipt to you.

Do not delay, but act, and act at once. The investigation has been ordered by the United States Senate. Now, if the Negro is called to trial and is not ready, all we have fought for, all Senator Foraker has won, will be lost.

Then there is the Constitution to be adopted by the new State of Oklahoma. The clause making legal "Jim Crow" cars is to be submitted to a vote of the people separate from other articles.

Had the Council money, we would organize and defeat that act. We must do something to help our Oklahoma brethren. For the race to surrender without an honest struggle will show us to be too big cowards for any decent man to fight for.

A prominent man writing from the State of Arkansas says "The most troublesome thing that we have on our hards at present is the Arkansas Legislature. They are grindly slowly but surely, trying as best they can to engulf the Negro and strip him of all his Constitutional rights. They have already introduced a servants' bill which, in my opinion, if enacted, will be pure and simple peonage.

They have also introduced the Segregation Bill, which means, if enacted into law, the denial of a vast number of Negro children the right and privi-25 nutshell, mean: involuntary servitude

ANTERIOR STREET, STREE

SCHOOL FOR FIANCES

CONDUCTED BY REV. G. H. WIL SON, OF DE KALB, ILL.

Object of Pastor Is to Impress Young Folks with Solemnity of Mar-Vows-Simple Wedding Becoming Popular.

Chicago. - Rev. George II. Wilson, pastor of the Congregational church at De Kalb, conducts a unique school for young people whom he expects to marry. The object of this is to impress them with the nature and the solemnity of the vows they take on themselves when they become man and wife.

When a prospective groom approaches the minister and engages him to perform the ceremony, the pastor gives him a printed sheet on which is printed the form of marriage ceremony that he will use. He asks the man to read over the words, to show the sheet to his prospective bride she may know what she is expected to promise when she appears before the man who is to join her and her lover for all time.

This sheet contains a service with or without the use of a ring, but in the event of the use of either the binding words are given out four or five weeks before the wedding, but if there is but a single day intervening between the engagement of the parson and the wedding both of the contracting parties are given the service and allowed to look it over.

After the wedding is over the bride is given a certificate and with it is given another of the printed sheets.

"It is a good thing," said the Rev Mr. Wilson, "for a husband and wife to look at this little sheet of paper once in a while. It freshens the mind, and they think over again the words and the meaning of the brief ceremony that started them in the wedded path. If married people would only think more and more of what they are about to promise, and then what they have promised, I think there would be a great deal more of wedded bliss."

REV. GEORGE H. WILSON. (Illinois Pastor Who Conducts Schoo for Those Who Contemplate Marriage.)

This pastor believes in a simple wedding. He says that hundreds of couples nowadays really want to get rid of the fuss and feathers of a wedding event. They want to be married quietly and go to housekeeping without allowing either fad or fashion to prescribe the way.

Frequently couples drive from towns to his parsonage to be married. When he asked a groom why he had not been married at home to save a 15 mile drive, he said he wanted to get away from the conventional wedding, and in this his bride had agreed fully with him. At their home town they had fitted up a home, and they went back to it from the ceremony and a short trip. "Some of my friends were married in that way," said the happy man. "They liked the plan and so do we, and we determined to commence married life in that kind of simple fashion."

Mr. Wilson says that he believes that the reason so many people go to St. Joseph to get married is to get rid of a wedding and its consequent conventionalities at home.

"The young folks wanted to put money in household equipment and they resolved to steal a march on the objecting parents. The girl went out to the pump to get a pail of water. She hung the bucket on the pump spout and then carelessly wandered to my house. There she met her affianced, and I married them groom paid me 50 cents. Then the bride went back to the well, carried the water into her old home, and told her parents that she was a wife. I got some loud talk from the irate paternal parent for my part in the matter, but it was all in French and did not hurt me. The union was a happy

Sea Captain's Home on Ship's Lines. Capt. D. J. McKenzie, a well-known sea captain, has been granted a permit to build a house at Eleventh avenue and Howell street, in the fashionable Capitol Hill district, at Seattle, Wash., which will be fashioned after a ship. It will be the first structure of its kind built here.

The house will have a typical bow and regulation stern, with rudder attached, and bowsprit. Smokestacks will be set in place and there will be two stubby masts. The hull or sides of the house will be shingled, with ports instead of windows, and the roof will be like a ship's deck. The hull is to be set on a concrete foundation. The plans show it to be a typical ship on

Pursuant to an Act of the Congress of the United States of America, there will be held a Naval and Land Exposition in commemoration of the Three Hundredth Anniversary of the landing of the first English-speaking people in this country, ,at Jamestown, Virginia commencing on the 26th day of April, 1907, and ending on the 1st day of November, 1907. That in order for the colored people of this country to show their achievements since their emancipation, it was deemed wise, by the leaders of the race, to hold a separate and distinct exhibit in order t put upon exhibition the marvelous progress they have made mechanically, agriculturally, educationally, and financially; that the world may see and judge for itself the capacity of the Negro as a race; his ability as a producer.

The Negro Development and Exposition Company of the United States of America, a company duly chartered under the laws of Virginia, with an authorized capital stock of $800,000, proposes to show at the Exposition what the race has made, produced, woven, carved, engraved, invented, written and published; in fact, everything the race has done or accomplished, from an industrial point of view, that the world may form a correct and more favorable opinion of the Negro race of this country; to the end that a proper solution of the problem may be had from a business, commercial, financial, and in dustrial point of view.

It has, therefore, been decided to ask every member of our race to list for exhibition any and every article made by any member of the race. It is the desire of the Company to have a complete exhibit of every character, except live stock.

Our women are noted for embroidery and handsome trimmings, knitting, weaving, and hundreds of other domestic productions; while our men are noted for their skill in drawing, carving, inventing, welding, and putting together articles of value too numerous to name; all such articles and hundreds of others are solicited for exhibition. Implements of every character are much desired.

GIVES BIG FARM TO NIECE.

Relatives and Church in Controversy Over Property Worth $50,000.

Champaign, Ill.—The village ary gift made by Josiah Gorham, an aged resident of that place to his niece and housekeeper, Mrs. Louise valued at $175 an acre. Mrs. Pyatt will have a hard time retaining the gift, however, as Gorham's son Henry, who lives in Champaign, has filed a suit in the circuit court, charging Mrs. Pyatt with obtaining the property by undue influence. It is only two months ago that the woman invited her aged uncle to come from Champaign, where he had been living with his son, to establish a home in the village of Homer, where she could care for him, He readily consented, as did the son, who, however, demanded a contract from her in regard to compensation, This was agreed to, but for some reason was never written out. Rev. O. K. Doney, a Christian minister, walked into the Citizens' bank at Homer and told the cashier, Perle Wiggins, who attended to the business affairs of Josiah Gorham, that Mr. Gorham had made over his farm to Mrs. Pyatt. who would devote a part of it to foreign missionary work in the Christian church. Wiggins communicated with the son, Henry Gorham, and the latter at once instituted suit. He will allege that the old man is incapable of attending to his own affairs, and that he did not know what he was doing.

SAMPLES FOR MANUFACTURERS. Department of Commerce and Labor

Has Goods Sold in Foreign Markets. Washington.-American manufacturers who are desirous of capturing some of the trade in the orient, South America and other countries now enjoyed by foreign manufacturers, says a report of the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor, should apply to that bureau for its varied lines of samples of goods that find a ready market in those countries.

These samples have been gathered primarily for American manufacturers and consist of cotton yarns, piece goods, belts, braids, handkerchiefs, gloves, laces, towels, etc., which are manufactured in foreign countries and sold in China, Japan, India, Australia, Turkey, Egypt, South Africa and South America.

Any or all of these samples, the report states, will be sent upon application to manufacturers, chambers of commerce and other commercial organizations located in cotton manufacturing centers.

The bureau also has samples of clogs of various sizes manufactured and worn in the north of England. Also a number of heel irons, sole blocks, soles and nails of different sizes and varieties used in the manufacture of clogs. From Edinburgh, Scotland, there are a large number of samples of wall paper. From China there are toilet soaps made in Austria, France, Germany and Holland and leather gloves made in Germany, calabash pipe made in Cape Town, South Africa, and a calabash which it is believed may be profitably grown in the United States.

French Judge Decides In Hubby's Favor and Warns Dressmakers.

New York.—Paris courts have taken another twist at dressmakers' suits for extravagant gowns and unpaid bills. From the French capital comes a decree that will interest dressmakers as well as women who have a penchant for running up bills which they know hubby can never pay. A fashionable dressmaker in Paris de-manded $5,800 for 21 gowns supplied to a woman within two months, and sued the woman and her husband.

The French court awarded $3,800 to the plaintiff, pointing out that even if the husband gives his wife authority to purchase tollets it must be presumed that he intends her to be reasonable. The court rules that it is the duty of dressmakers to inquire whether orders given by the wife accord with the husband's financial

FEAT OF A CNE-ARMED MAN.

He Builds a Two-Story House Without Outside Help.

London.—Quite a pretentious two story house stands at Rochester, England, as a monument to the industry of a one-armed man named Simpson, who is connected with the British postal service. The man has for many years been employed on one of the rural routes and as his time is not wholly taken up at his labor he spends a large part of each day at work on a farm which he owns and operates.

Having a few spare minutes left each day, the thought occurred to him to build a residence for himself. He gave the matter some thought and finally drew the plans, which were submitted to the local authorities and duly approved by them.

He commenced the work of foundstion laying and for ten years he gave the project what time he had after attending to his other duties and at the end of this period the house was complete in every particular. The interior woodwork was all in place and the walls and ceilings properly decorated and all of this was done by the one-armed Handy-Andy during his spare time. The cart in which the bricks and lumber were hauled was also constructed by the remarkable workman. In the rearing of this build ing all work was done by his hands, or rather his hand.

Mr. Simpson's arm was shot off by the accidental discharge of a gun when he was a lad of 12 years, but notwithstanding this handleap he has more to show for his industry and perseverance than most persons with the usual number of arms.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS

HOME If there is one spark of gratitude in the colored Americans of these United States now is the time to show it. On the front page of this issue the attention of the American people irrespective of color, but the colored American specially is called to the appeal issued by Prof. Booker T. Washington for funds to save the old homestead of the late Frederick Douglass, which was dedicated to the colored people by Mrs. Douglass, his last wife. In his appeal to the American people Professor Washington gives his reasons why this monument was left to the colored people, and what their duties are in the premises. Frederick Douglass, born a slave, was the greatest colored American and a defender of the rights of the enslaved. He was foremost in the conflict for human liberty and stood for the freedom and independence of the colored Americans. Professor Washington's deep sense of duty and the love he has for the memory of the champion of the rights of man, appeals to those who today enjoy the fruits of the Emancipation to give something to save the old homestead of their liberator and preserve the historic records that have been left to posterity. It is the duty of every colored American to send something. Professor Washington has taken upon himself the heavy responsibility of raising the necessary funds to liquidate this indebtedness. Will the colored American do his duty? Will he help this worthy cause and respond to Professor Washington's appeal? The Bee believes that there is gratitude in the colored American. The Bee feels confident that the life's work of the late Frederick Douglass is appreciated by those who today realize that Mr. Douglass lived for an oppressed people. Let us pick from the thorns the roses he left and place them alongside of what the colored Americans now enjoy and say to ourselves: in this box we deposit our mite for the good that Douglass has done for the offspring of the emancipated. The home he left and the historic records must be preserved. The colored Americans are struggling for existence, and some day they will realize the hope of their ambition. Professor Washington is engaged in a worthy cause: shall we help him? His efforts in this direction are for the colored race. He wants to perpetuate a monument for posterity and in after ages our children's children will look up-

THE DOCTRINE OF SUR RENDER?

Is there nothing for the idle people to do in this city? Must there the colored Americans continue to be a law passed to prohibit people from drinking whiskey? Washington, and when it is called upon to point out one act of surrender either on the part of The Bee or Professor Washington, it fails in toto and tells. The Bee to point it out. The Bee never accused the Conservator of anything except its surrender of the Judgship to which its esteemed friend was elected, Mr. Barnett. The last reply of the Conservator has convinced The Bee that its able and learned friend, Editor Wilkins, is not dangerous after all. He started out to disagree with The Bee and concludes by agreeing to all The Bee has said about Tuskegee and its principal.

THE INVESTIGATION.

The Senate investigation of the Brownsville, Texas, alleged riot is progressing nicely and Senator Foraker is weaving a web around the neck of President Roosevelt so perceptible that a mule can see it far has vindicated those innocent men who were discharged without honor from the United States Army. If there was any shooting at all, the white crackers of Texas are guilty of it. The President ought to send another committee to Texas to investigate the last committee that went for facts. THE PRESIDENT WHIPPED.

It is quite evident that Senator Foraker of Ohio has whipped the President and the entire administration. To get even with Senator Foraker he threatens to appoint a colored man in the Cleveland, Ohio, district, to a position never held before by a colored man. There may be a few second-class colored men in Ohio who would accept a place at the hands of the President munity. This is a rule that has to get even with Senator Foraker, but we venture to say that no selfrespecting colored man would honor the Administration to the extent of accepting a place from it. The colored voters of the country have bid farewell to Roosevelt and Rooseveltism. The President is whipped and he might as well admit it. The Texas crackers shot up the town and not a member of Companies A. B and C of the 25th Infantry.

EX-SENATOR GREEN

SPEAKS. Ex-Senator John P. Green of Ohio, who was succeeded by a white Democrat in the Post Office Department, and a simon-pure Republican, writes and informs The Bee that no colored man in Ohio will be used as a cat's paw to pull chestnuts out of the fire for President Roosevelt. No colored man with any self-respect will accept the position of surveyor or collector of the port of Cleveland from the President, because it would be an insult to Senators Foraker and Dick. Mr. Green is one representative colored man who has some manhood and refuses to be used tempting to prohibit poor waiters who respects himself would accept

DEEP RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT IN HOWARD UNIVERSITY.

One of the leading professors of How ard University, in referring to the work of Dr. W. P. Thirkield, president of the University, made the public statement that "that which thus far is most distinctive in his administration is the emphasis which he puts on the moral and religious side of education. Under his influence a religious spirit is leavening the student life-giving it a beter quality and nobler aim."

This religious influence which the president has brought to bear upon the great body of young men and women that fill the memorial chapel at Sunday Vespers and chapel services, culminated last Thursday on the Day of Prayer for Colleges, when a large number openly confessed Christ, and about two hundred professing Christians gave themselves in renewed consecration to a life of Christian service.

work continues to deepen and the older professors speak of it as the most significant religious movement in the University for many years. The sermon on the Day of Prayer, which was given by the Rev. Dr. R. B. Moore of Foundry Church, was strong and searching, and made an abiding impres-

HEAD OF ISTHMIAN COMMISSION RESIGNS POSITION.

Goes to Take More Lucrative Job as Chief of Gotham's Traction System-Stevens in Full Control of Work.

Washington.-Theodore P. Shonts, chairman of the isthmian canal commission, has resigned, to take effect on March 4, and his resignation has been accepted by President Roosevelt. Mr. Shonts leaves the government employ to go into that of the Ryan-Belmont combination in the management of the Interborough Street railway system in New York.

He will have no successor in the government. The entire control of the building of the Panama canal will be concentrated in the hands of John F. Stevens, the present chief engin-He will be made chairman of the commission as long as that body lasts, but the commission itself is to be abolished if congress follows the view of the senate committee, which is soon to make a report on the subject, with the complete approval of the president.

Secretary Taft will then become the responsible head of the civil government of the canal, and Chief Engineer Stevens will have entire control of the technical details.

Mr. Shonts leaves his place without any trace of ill feeling on either side. On the contrary, by a peculiar combination of circumstances Chairman Shonts wanted to go, President Roosevelt was willing he should go, and the big company in New York desired Mr. Shonts' services, and was willing to pay for them.

Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Assurance society, came over here to make a formal offer of the place at the head of the New York traction system, the management of which has become so unutterably bad that it became necessary to find a public man who would command the confidence of the people. President Roosevelt was sounded to find out whether he would feel that Mr. Shonts often attracted attention, and the face of the enemy if he went to New history connected with the edifice. York to take a larger salary. To the surprise of Mr. Shonts' friends, the president replied without hesitation that he considered the commission had nearly outlived its usefulness and that Mr. Shonts' services would not be necessary after the conclusion of the winter season here.

The chairman of the isthmian canal commission has retained his place all along as president of the Clover Leaf railroad. He insisted that the salary of $30,000 a year allowed by the gov ernment was not sufficient for him. and he held on to his railroad position with the distinct understanding that It would not be permitted to interfere with his labor for the canal.

This decision created considerable dissatisfaction in certain government circles, as all cabinet officers and other servants of the government usually have cut loose from private business matters entirely except in the way of investments or as sleeping partners in active commercial life.

Like Mr. Wallace, the previous engineer, who was so severely scored by Secretary Taft for leaving the government service to accept a higher salary outside, Mr. Shonts will make money by leaving Washington. It is understood his salary will be not less than $50,000 a year and it may be considerably more. Actual service on the traction lines of New York and Brooklyn surface, elevated, and subway, has been of the most wretched description and the owners at last have realized that they could escape unfriendly legislation only by putting in charge a man of recognized execu tive ability. They sought Chairman Shonts because he had been appointed by President Roosevelt and they believed the people would accept his choice as a guarantee of an honest intention to better the service.

his religion will prove quite as popu lar as that of Elijah II. Pastor Russell established his sect in Allegheny about ten years ago. He founded a Watch Tower Bible association, which publishes his tracts and sends them broadcast. Publication houses have been established in nearly every large city of this country and in London and Paris. He claims several million followers.

Money has been flowing into his coffers-or rather the coffers of the sect-like water. He solicits not a penny, and his tracts are sent free. He accepts the scriptures, but puts a new interpretation on all the vexatious passages. He claims the Bible teaches there is no place of eternal punishment, and claims he has proven his position.

A unique method of spreading his doctrine is his habit of spending hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in having his sermons printed in the chily newspapers.

Recently, he secured a divorce from his wife, after a sensational trial, during which he said his love was like that of a jelly fish in that it went out to any spirit that responded to him.

ECCENTRIC MILLIONAIRE. Alm of Seybert Institution Will Be to Train Poor Young and Develop Them-Is First of Kind In Philadelphia.-The Seybert institution for poor children, with a $1,500,-000 fund just available under the will of Henry Seybert, who died in 1883, will go into the business of relieving poor children at the rate of 1,000 a year, first by an arrangement with the Children's Aid society to open a children's bureau at 1506 Arch street on February 15; next by creating a model village, unlike anything on earth, on a 300-acre farm at Meadowbrook, with cottages for 300 poor children and school-training facilities; next by setting up a taining school for child savers.

the World.

Other branches of child-saving work will be developed in the future as need arises under the Seybert institution, created by the bachelor benefactor in honor of his father and mother, Adam and Maria Sarah Seybert. The full text of the announcements has been handed out by the trustees of the Seybert institution, all well-known citizens of Philadelphia.

The children's bureau, a clearing house in its way, begins business February 15 by going to the relief of the juvenile court. It offered by a letter to Judge Bregy to "provide for destitute and neglected children and those whose delinquencies, if any, are not sufficiently serious to require commitment to the house of refuge."

The Children's Aid society, now having 1,100 children under its care, is to work side by side in the same office building and all the agencies are to be invited to participate in harmonizing and developing the work of child saving and child training, child employment and child legislation.

The Seybert institution offers for poor girls the nearest approach to what Girard college is for orphan

Its model yillage for 300 will be the first of its kind in the world. The aim is that the life of the children shall be as near as possible like that of a normal child in a family home in a small community. Seybert was a chemist and a son of a distinguished chemist, led a single, romantic, eccentric life, studied and traveled abroad, lived three years in Paris, left a bequest to the university for investigation of spiritualism and gave the city the bell and clock which rings and marks the hours in the belfry of Independence

HEART-SHAPED BRIDAL COACH.

Gorgeous Equipage Designed to Boom Wedding Business.

Pittston, Pa.-A bridal coach, designed to boom matrimony and do away with the custom of decorating ordinary backs with white ribbons. has just been completed here at a cost of $1,800. The coach, which is designed in the shape of a heart, is painted maroon and black with gold trimmings, the lines arranged to form hearts everywhere possible. There are 20 hearts in all on the vehicle, including eight heart-shaped windows. Two large hearts join to form the dashboard and two more crop out at the rear springs. The lamps, which have electric lights inside, are each surmounted by a Cupid, with his bow and arrow, clad in the happiest smiles. The coach is upholstered in cream-colored velour and old gold trimming with two sets of watered silk curtains overhead and cluster of calla lilles in the hearts of which are concealed red, white and blue electric lights.

The carriage equipment likewise includes a speaking tube and electric bell to connect with the driver. The carriage took seven months to build. It is to be hauled by four cream-col-

INDIAN WINS WHITE HEIRESS Fiancee Pleased to Hear Lover Is Elected Chief of Tribe.

PROVIDED FOR BY WILL OF AN Denver, Col.-Miss Cora Arnold, a wealthy young woman of this city, who is engaged to marry Albino Chavarria, a Pueblo Indian, has recelved word that her lover has been elected chief of the tribe at Espanola, N. M. She expressed pleasure and said that though opposition still existed to her engagement she hoped for the best. She and her sister own much real estate here.

> Ere many moons have sped into eternity the Denver heiress may join her dusky lover and bring to a happy stage a romance from real life that finds not its counterpart in the tales of the poets and novelists who depicted the aborigine in song and story.

> Gov. Albino Chavarria it is now. The course of true love has not run smoothly for the Indian chief and his Denver inamorata. They first met when Chavarria was brought here with his tribe as a carnival attraction. Added to a magnificent physique, the Santa Clara brave has enjoyed unusual educational advantages. He is a cultured redskin, and affects the white man's dress when in the white man's country.

The wealthy Denver woman, who, with her sister, owns the Colonnade apartments at Colfax and Marion streets, found in the handsome redskin her soul's affinity. They became engaged and marriage was decided on. But friends interfered. Their importunities were heeded, and questions of religion also had some bearing on a postponement of the wedding.

TO REVIVE SACRED DANCES.

French Danseuse Hopes to Buy Church for New Use.

Paris.-Some Paris flattering artists put in Loie Fuller's head the idea of buying one of the churches vacated under the separation law and using it as an appropriate theater in which to revive the sacred dances of all countries, ages and creeds.

Her sculptor and painter friends have been delighted with her recent inventions shown at the Hippodrome, where she has come triumphantly out from the cloud which had enveloped her, since her astonishing success in the exposition year when she familiar ized all France and the visiting world with her electric dances.

She now uses the magic lantern and ingenious technical devices which en able her to produce upon a screen the effect of real stage scenery, with the added advantages of instantaenously changing the pictures and having in finitely varied light and color. Several of her dance themes are founded on religious rites.

She hopes to present in her church theater a complete and historically accurate repertoire of living contribu tions to the study of ancient and comparative religion, as well as an attractive series of "turns."

TO RAISE SPIDERS BIG AS CATS

Insects Will Weave Rope and Eggs Can Be Sold for Marbles.

Danville, Ky.-Assessor R. D. Bruce has set on foot a plan to replace the hemp industry by the use of giant African spiders. He is now in south completing arrangements for a spider hatchery. According to Mr. Bruce, the dark continent produces a spider which, at maturity, is the size of a Maltese cat, and weaves a web of strands as large as broom twine. These spiders, he declares, are easily domesticated, and are fairly intelligent. The natives have utilized the webs for fishing seines. A letter from an African scientist says that the spiders can be raised as incubators.

A stock company is to be formed to carry on the industry, and an option has been obtained on a 5,000-acre farm, where the spiders will be housed upon their arrival.

As a by-product the eggs of the elephantine insects will be sold for marbles. The females lay from 100 to 225 eggs a week, and they are as hard as flint and perfect spheres. The shells are beautifully colored, resem bling the best 30-cent "shooters" used by boys in "taws."

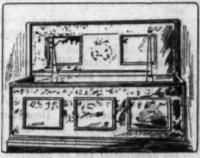

HISTORIC HEIRLOOM THAT IS HIGHLY PRIZED.

"Great Willoughby Chest" Presented by Elizabeth to Second Cousin Who Shared Her Captivity in the Tower of London.

Boston.-If the "great Willoughby chest," a priceless heirloom in the possession of Theodore Raymond of Springfield, Mass., could talk, what tales it might tell of the captivity of Princess Elizabeth, afterward the 'Good Queen Bess" of England, in the Tower of England, a captivity shared by her devoted maid of honor, and second cousin once removed, Lady Margaret Willoughby, through whom this chest, undoubtedly a gift from Queen Elizabeth, passed to her descendants, the Raymonds of New England. And what joy it would bring to the Raymonds, the Lyndes, the Griswolds and other families of Massachusetts and Connecticut in establishing their direct descent from the beautiful Elizabeth Woodville, who became the wife of King Edward IV. These families trace their genealogy back to the kings of England with only one slight break.

Other precious relics of Queen Elizabeth were handed down with the chest, including a tablecloth embroidered by the princess during her imprisonment in the tower, another gift to the faithful Lady Margaret.

The chest is a massive affair, seven feet in length, two feet seven inches in width and two feet seven inches high. It is made of a peculiar hard wood, originally very light in color, but darkened exceedingly by age. The quaint old carvings on the front and on the inside of the cover, the handwrought massive iron hinges and handles, the cumbersome lock and huge keys are eloquent testimony of its age. The carvings on the outside, which are nearly worn off, evidently represent horsemen riding through a forest. At either end of the three front panels is a gallant of the Elizabethan period, long-haired, plume-hat-

The carvings on the inner side of the lid represent two scenes, one of Sir Walter Raleigh spreading his cloak before Queen Elizabeth, the other of a gay pleasure party in boats among small islands, with a turreted castle in the background. Between the two scenes is a coat-of-arms. The shield has either a cross or lines to make four quarterings. the tablecloth embroidered in the tower and other valuable gifts, was given by Queen Elizabeth to Lady Margaret Willoughby is so well authenticated as to seem beyond dispute. At any rate the tablecloth came down through the Willoughbys to the Raymonds with the chest, and the cloth, at least, was the gift of the queen to Lady Margaret, for English history is clear on this point.

The Raymonds, Lyndes and Gris wolds of New England, numbering now several thousands trace their ancestry back to Col. William Willoughby, who was commissioner of the British navy from 1648 to 1651, when he died. His son, Francis Willoughby, came to New England in 1638, and returned to England in 1651. In 1652 be was appointed successor of his father as commissioner of the navy, and in 1658 was chosen member of parliament for Portsmouth. In 1662 he returned to New England, and became deputy governor of the Massachusetts colony in 1665, continuing in office until he died in 1675.

The first or the Raymonds to visit the colonies was William, who came over from Kent "with other stewards and 40 servants," for the "Company of Laconia," formed to trade and fish on the grant given to Capt. John Mason, a London merchant, comprising part of what is now New Hampshire. came to Little Harbor (now Ports mouth, N. H.), in 1630, and remained but a short time.

The first real settler and head of one of the most prolific branches of the family in New England was Richard Raymond, who in 1636 received a grant of land on what is now Winter island in Salem harbor. He is described in the records as a mariner and part owner of the ketch Hopewell of Salem. He afterward removed to Norwich, Conn.; and in 1664 to Saybrook, where he was engaged in trade with the English and Dutch settlers on Manhattan

The great chest, which had come into the Raymond family by marriage with the Willoughbys, was brought from Block Island to New London in 1704 by Mrs. Mercy Raymond, widow of Joshua, who was a grandson of Richard. It was then known both as the "great Willoughby chest" and as the "Elizabeth chest." From generation to generation it was down, and finally was bequeathed to Theodore Raymond of Springfield, the present owner, by his grandfather, Theodore Raymond of Norwich, Conn rablet Will Be Placed on Building Where Locomotive Inventor Lived.

London.-So rapidly is the London county council's historical department advancing with its work of searching out the authentic past residences of famous persons that within a short time hardly a building in the metrop olis having interesting associations with celebrities, will not bear the famillar little round tablet.

Many Americans are likely to see the latest building to be marked; the house at 34 Gloucestetr square, Hyde inventor of the locomotive, lived during one of the most active and impertant periods of his life, and in which he died in 1859 at the age of 54 Stephenson moved into this house h 1847, and in the ten years following his engineering projects took him nearly around the world. He built the great Victoria bridge over the St Lawrence at Montreal; he construct ed the Alexandria to Cairo railway, a number of big railway bridges in England, and the Royal Border Vladoct over the Tweed, and at the urgent request of the Norwegian government he supervised that stupendous piece of engineering which connects Christiania with Lake Miosen.

During most of these years Robert Stephenson was member of parliament for Whitby and a hard worker a various commissions and committees. The Gloucester square house, which contains many interesting relics of him, has now passed out of the hands of his descendants.

GETS A SMITHSONIAN POST.

Charles D. Walcott Elected Secretary of the Institution.

Washington.-Charles D. Walcott, director of the geological survey, has been elected secretary of the Smithsonian institution by the board of regents. It is quite likely that Dr. Walcott would have been elected to the secretaryship of the Smithsonian institution some time ago had it not been for the desire of President Roosevell that he should continue as director of the geological survey.

Dr. Walcott is a geologist and pale ontologist of distinction and has we for himself a reputation among scient ists not only of this country but also been conferred on him by Hamilton college, the University of Chicago and Johns Hopkins university. He has been director of the geological survey since 1894 and secretary of the Car negie institution since 1902. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences of the American Association for the Advancement of Sein-ce and is the author of important scientif works. The salary of his caw position is $7,000 a year, while that of the d rector of the geological survey is $4. 000. Dr. Walcott is nearly 57 years old and long has been a resident of Commerce Claims Everything. Like the old Ferris wheel of the Columbian exposition days, the great wheel of Earl's court, London, will never revolve again. SWELLS THE SHEEP'S HEADS.

Peculiar Disease in South Africa Decimates the Flocks.

London.—South Africa, which is noted for its curious animal and human diseases, ha none more curious than the trouble affecting Merino and Army of 32,000 Rural Guards Found Africander sheep and Angora goats in which the heads and ears of the animals swell to grotesque size, finally resulting in the death of the animal. This disease, the exact nature of which or its cause is not recogname, "geel dikkop," which translated means yellow thickhead.

The trouble usually appears in herds which have been grazing on low land and is particularly prevalent after a tery. The head and ears assume a dropsical condition, growing to enormous size, and if no treatment is shrivel up and crack. This swollen condition is accompanied by a general condition of jaundice.

Postmortem examinations disclose. in addition to the general jaundiced condition, an abnormal condition of some of the vitat organis, as the liver, spleen, etc. The average mortality is 40 per cent.

CITY OVERSTOCKED WITH CASH.

Money in Treasury is Becoming a Veritable Drug.

Crystal Falls, Mich.-Crystal Falls is crowing over other towns in the upper peninsula, for the latter have a hard time making both ends meet and they often borrow money to tide the municipality over until the annual collections have been made. Crystal Falls city is so loaded with money that the surplus funds are becoming a veritable nuisance and the of the money, putting it into circulation instead of allowing it to lie idle in the hands of the treasurer.

The annual report of the treasurer showed a balance on hand of about $13,000 over and above all outstanding orders. As the time for the collection of taxes is at hand the funds in hand will be increased very shortly by another $10,000.

The sewer work is all paid for and the suspension of operations has elimthat source until next spring. The Furnished rooms for rent at 11171/2 treasurer has been instructed to place the money at interest wherever the best rate can be secured.

Columbus Man Says He Was First to Enlist in Ohio at Call of Lincoln.

Columbus - It now develops that Major Henry M. Nell of this city was the first man to be enlisted in Ohio under the call for troops by President Lincoln for the civil war.

Major Neil has never spoken of his distinction until now. The Major says that when the message came from council has decided to invest $10,000 Lincoln for the quota he was in Governor William Dennison's office.

The governor, who was his brotherin-law, related the contents of the telegram, and Major Neil followed by saying that he could be counted on and desired to be the first man enrolled. When Lieutenant "Bob" Williams arrived from Washington that night to recruit soldiers he swore Major Neil in as a private.

Neil served in the short service and was mustered out in 1864, after commanding a battery he had raised. This honor of being the first Ohloan to enlist has always been credited to Lorin Andrews of Ashland, who died in September, 1861.

TO THE BEE SUBSCRIBERS. The Bee's collector will call in person upon the subscribers, and it is requested that everyone have his money in readiness when he calls. It is inconvenient for the collector to call a by the people, for the people. When it town subscribers will receive no more papers after this issue until they remit. This is the final notice, and if they do not receive a paper next week they will certainly know the cause. Respectfully,

The Management.

HIDDEN ISLES OF THE SEA Many a noble ship, richly laden with the proudest spoils of human industry which is dearer still-human life-has passed away with the morning sunlight glittering on its snowy canvas, passed passed away forever from the ken and knowledge of men as completely as if it had never been in existence.

What has become of those vanished argosies? Whither have they gone?

When the seas give up their dead, and the old ocean lays bare its secrets, the human skeletons, the virgin gold, the priceless gems, the costly jewels, and the wrecks of those vanished ships will be found strewn amid the tremendous passes and deep defiles of those submerged mountain ranges which are the backbones of lost continents, upon those topmost peaks, projecting near the surface of the seas, these lost convoys have been dashed to destruction! The mariner's compass and the navigator's chart have not been able to protect commerce from the wreck and ruin of these submerged ridges, but the good ship "Columbia," richly laden with its precious and best whiskey in the world, launched and navigated by William J. Donovan from the famous Baseball House, located at 1528 Seventh street, N. W., with the Stars and Stripes glittering from its gaff and defiance to all competitors thundering from its steel-clad turrets, has weathered every gale and returned safely from every voyage, because Mr. Donovan knows the highways of successful enterprise are strewn with the derelicts of pretension and misrepresentation, and that quality alone, and quality strictly and strenuously adhered to, is the only chart and surest recommendation of those who wish to indulge in the deli-
